Wipe those confused looks off of your faces, we are the same boat, offering the same standard of service, same trips, same time, same place just a smarter name!!

Yes that's right folks, Cruise GQ has morphed into Cruise iQ in the past month and it is with our new name that we forge towards the future, sails blazing. Cruise iQ is the "smart choice".

Although February didn't want to play along weather wise, we still managed to carry over a thousand peeps and it was a short month so it seems we are as popular as ever!

For those of you who tried booking a place with us to show off on Valentines Day, you would have seen that we were fully booked the whole day and we did an extra trip, our boys were working their fingers to the bone bringing romance and love to as many people as what they could that day, well done crew!!

For those of you that enjoy a spot of TV every now and then you would have seen us front and centre on the Show Biz report with Nicky Greenwall. They filmed the show right on our deck on Valentines Day along with a very trendy party thrown by Mont Blanc and GQ Magazine, where the Mumm champagne was flowing and all the models were trying to find their sea legs...

Interactive Africa (big boys of the Design Indaba) had a great time with us in February and the SAB iQ posse on a teambuilding exercise.

Miller team used us in their networking with some of the cabinet ministers, while they were enjoying a drink at the Radisson Hotel before the opening of parliament.

We have some awesome things going on this month with a couple of wedding parties, birthday bashes and tour groups so if you are thinking about hopping the bandwagon (or sailing catamaran) and joining the gang of Cruise iQ VIP's, then give us a call and come and see what the hype is about!!

Happy sailing
Cruise iQ Team
